

Sharing Your Passion for Color: A Collaborative Color Workshop and Retreat for All Artists

Hosted and Facilitated by Maggie Maggio

Saturday, September 24th to Friday, September 30th, 2011

Do you love playing with color? Does the idea of learning more about the complexities of color intrigue you? Are you curious about how other artists use color?

Come spend a week this fall in a beautiful home in Portland, Oregon alongside artists from a variety of media who share your passion for exploring color. Every day will start with group exercises similar to those in "Color Inspirations," the book Maggie wrote with fellow polymer artist Lindly Haunani. " Each day will end with sharing what you learned with fellow participants. In between there will be time set aside for personal color exploration, project development, and troubleshooting sessions.

Maggie Maggio is a nationally recognized polymer artist who has specialized in teaching color for the past twenty years to artists of many different media. Her experience unraveling the complexity of color led to the development of workshops focused on learning how to balance knowledge and instinct while practicing how to use color well.

Level: All levels of experience in any medium are welcome.

Costs: Five Day Color Workshop & Retreat - $295/person includes studio sessions, instruction and exercises, handouts and shared materials, plus a simple lunch Monday-Thursday.

Lodging at Governor's Mansion – $265/person includes six night stay (double occupancy), $375/two persons registered together (double occupancy), $495/person (single occupancy.)

Class Length: Arrive anytime after 3:00 on Saturday, September 24th, leave at 10:00 on Friday, September 30th. The workshop starts on Sunday at 1:00 and ends on Thursday at 8:30 pm.

Optional Night: Friday, September 23rd – add $40/person. Come early, get rested, and experience Portland!

Group Size: Minimum – 5 participants. Maximum – 12 participants.

To Register: Contact Laurel Swetnam at llswetnam@gmail.com for registration information. Registration closes Aug 15th, 2011.

For more details go to www.maggiemaggio.com/color/smashing-color-intensive/

